INSPECTION OF THE NURSERY EDUCATION PROVISION FOR FUNDED THREE AND FOUR YEAR OLDS.

How effective is the nursery education?

St Bonaventures Pre-School provides good quality nursery education overall which enables children to make generally good progress towards the early learning goals. The provision for their personal, social and emotional development, creative and physical development as well as knowledge and understanding of the world is particularly well planned.

Teaching is generally good. Staff plan interesting and stimulating activities for children. They interact question and listen to children effectively. Planning is informative, topic based and linked to the stepping stones and the six areas of learning. Observations of the children are used to inform the planning of what children should do next. However, the system is not entirely effective as planned activities and daily routines are not used to sufficiently challenge children in the areas of communication, language and literacy and mathematical development. Staff have a positive attitude towards children with special educational needs. Behaviour in the group is very good.

Leadership and management is generally good. Regular staff meetings and discussions ensure that there is good communication within the team. Staff work well as a team. They show commitment to further development through attending training courses. The education provision is monitored and evaluated through the planning system and the children's assessments. This is only partly effective as the areas of communication, language and literacy and mathematical development are not sufficiently covered.

Partnership with parents is generally good. Parents and staff work well together to ensure that the children settle well into the group. Parents are not fully involved in the observations and assessment of their children's development and progress. However, they do have informal opportunities to discuss their progress and development with the staff and relationships are good.

What is being done well?

- Children enjoy listening to and responding to stories. Staff are developing children's concentration and imagination through dressing up as characters from stories such as 'Mrs Simkins Soup'.
- Parents are encouraged to share their expertise and to help assist with activities during the sessions. Staff offer them good information and guide parents appropriately to enable them to support the children's activities effectively.
- Staff are enthusiastic in their teaching they plan a range of interesting and stimulating activities for children including first hand experiences.

- Staff speak quietly and calmly to the children. They direct them and give clear instructions. This leads to a calm atmosphere where children are focused in their play and are progressing in a good learning environment.

What needs to be improved?

- challenges for older and more able children to help them to use and extend their skills for example, linking sounds to letters and writing for a purpose in their play, using their mathematical awareness to solve problems in every day routines and activities
- partnership with parents, to ensure that they are fully involved in the process of assessing their children's development and that they have regular opportunities to contribute to the assessment and progress records.

What has improved since the last inspection?

The group have made generally good progress since the last inspection.

The group have introduced a planning system that is closely linked to the six areas of learning. The planning is informative and staff evaluate activities at informal meetings. Evaluations and the observations of children are used to inform future planning. However, there is scope for further improvement in this area. The group have developed their programme for communication language and literacy and creative development. There are still insufficient challenges for children in communication language and literacy. However, the programme for creative development offers children regular opportunities to express and communicate their ideas through a wide range of tools and materials, musical experiences such as songs, instruments and movement. The improvements made since the last inspection ensures that children are making generally good progress towards the early learning goals.
