Introduction

This inspection was carried out by two additional inspectors. The inspectors observed teaching and learning in 22 lessons, saw six teachers, held meetings with members of the governing body and staff and spoke to pupils. They observed the school's work, and looked at a range of school policies and documentation relating to safeguarding and strategic planning, examples of pupils' work, assessment data and monitoring records. They also scrutinised 31 questionnaires returned by parents and carers, as well as questionnaires from pupils and staff.

The inspection team reviewed many aspects of the school's work. It looked in detail at a number of key areas.

- Whether actions taken by school leaders are having a sustainable effect on raising attainment in writing and mathematics and bringing about improvements in the Early Years Foundation Stage.
- Whether, in the light of the school claiming that leadership and management are good and teaching is satisfactory, actions taken by school leaders is ensuring that there are improvements in teaching which will ensure that pupils make better than satisfactory progress from their starting points.

Information about the school

This school is very much smaller than others of the same type. Most pupils are from White British backgrounds. The proportion of pupils known to be eligible for free school meals is well above average. The proportion of pupils with special educational needs and/or disabilities is average. The school has achieved the Activemark and Healthy School status. The pupils in Years 2 to 6 are taught in three mixed-age classes.

Main findings

This is a good school. There are outstanding outcomes for pupils because, for example, they demonstrate good achievement, outstanding behaviour, an exceptional awareness of how to stay fit and healthy and make an outstanding contribution to the school and the wider community. All staff provide exceptionally sensitive care and support which ensure that pupils' well-being and personal development are promoted extremely well and pupils are happy and feel extremely safe. There are outstanding procedures to involve parents and carers in their children's learning, so that progress is enhanced at home. Pupils make good progress because good teaching makes learning fun and the effective curriculum offers many stimulating experiences, including through outstanding partnerships, to enhance pupils' enterprise, sporting and writing skills. In some lessons, teachers offer too much help, do not ask sufficiently challenging questions, the pace of learning drops and pupils' progress slows. The school has striven to improve attendance. However, it remains average because a few families do not see the benefits of ensuring their children attend regularly.

Pupils have an exceptionally strong sense of how to help others, an understanding of other faiths and a developing awareness of life in different cultures. This understanding, together with the school's development of pupils' interest in the historical richness of the local area, enhances pupils' spiritual, moral, social and cultural awareness. Average attainment and attendance, allied to good skills in teamwork and in information and communication technology (ICT), and a clear awareness of the world of work, ensure that pupils' development of workplace skills is good.

The school has much useful information about pupils' skills and abilities which it uses increasingly well to identify and match work to the learning needs of individual pupils and to measure their progress. Marking is also used effectively to tell pupils how well they have achieved in individual tasks. However, it does not ensure that pupils are always clear about how to improve their work. Self-evaluation is accurate, if occasionally overcautious, and includes all staff and governors in planning and monitoring. Accordingly, the school has initiated appropriate and successful strategies which have raised attainment in writing and mathematics and brought about improvements in the Early Years Foundation Stage. Given its track record, the good quality of provision and outstanding outcomes for pupils, the school's capacity to improve is good, and it provides good value for money.

What does the school need to do to improve further?

- By the summer of 2012, improve teaching and thus further accelerate pupils' progress and raise their attainment, by:

- ensuring that all lessons have a brisk pace and pupils have sufficient opportunities to explore for themselves
 - using questions more effectively so that teachers encourage pupils to extend their thinking
 - using marking more effectively to help pupils know exactly how to improve their work.
- Improve attendance by:
- ensuring rigorous strategies are in place to effectively monitor and address school absence
 - working closely with families to help them ensure their children come to school regularly.

Outcomes for individuals and groups of pupils1

The extent to which pupils achieve and enjoy their work is good. Pupils have excellent attitudes, are extremely courteous, form very positive relationships and show great keenness to do well in their work. They especially enjoy challenging and lively activities, such as projects linked to visits to museums, to explore life in the rainforest, investigate what toys were like in the past or find out about insects, linked to their reading of James and the Giant Peach.

Although cohorts vary in this small school, the skills and abilities with which children join the Early Years Foundation Stage are typically below expectations overall. Pupils make good progress to attain standards which are broadly average at the end of Year 6. Pupils with special educational needs and/or disabilities are well cared for and supported in their learning and they make good progress because their work provides appropriate challenge and interest.

Pupils are exceptionally aware of the importance of a healthy diet and of taking plenty of exercise. This is reflected in their very enthusiastic involvement in physical education and the high take-up of healthy school meals. They care for one another very well, have great respect for each other and for the adults in the school, and say they feel extremely safe. Pupils are confident that they know exactly what to do in the event of a concern.

Pupils make a highly positive contribution to the school community through class and school councils and as house captains. These groups meet regularly and play a major role in helping pupils to behave exceptionally well and feel very safe. Pupils willingly take on roles as playground and lunchtime helpers and peer mediators. They support a range of charities and participate in competitions with other local schools, in activities in the town which celebrate local history and with the local churches. Average attendance rates, good punctuality, involvement in enterprise activities and confidence in group work, mean that pupils are well equipped for their future economic well-being.

How effective is the provision?

Teachers make learning fun, make it clear to pupils what they will learn and how they will know if they have succeeded. They employ interactive whiteboard technology well to engage pupils and plan opportunities for pupils to learn through practical activities, including experiments, games and using ICT. Teachers use questions well to ascertain what pupils already know and check that they have made progress. They use questions less successfully to encourage pupils to develop their ideas. Occasionally, the pace of learning drops because introductory activities go on too long, teachers offer too much information and pupils are prevented from getting on with tasks, or exploring independently or together.

The curriculum contributes to pupils' good progress by offering a range of stimulating activities which are increasingly helping them to see the links between subjects and develop and apply important skills. For example, work on the Second World War successfully develops imagination, creativity and writing skills. There are good procedures to encourage reading. Opportunities for pupils to develop skills in calculation, investigative and problem-solving activities in mathematics have had a positive impact on raising attainment. There are highly effective links with the local secondary school, which enhance pupils' cooking, ICT and sporting skills. Well-planned enrichment activities, including visits to places of worship, Durham Cathedral and Bowes Museum, and opportunities to work with writers and artists, help to develop pupils' skills in writing, art and history and their understanding of other faiths and cultures. There are many popular extra-curricular clubs which promote learning and enjoyment in sporting, arts and environmental activities, including film club, recycling and the development of the school garden.

Staff's extremely detailed knowledge of the personal and emotional needs of individual pupils is put to excellent use. Pupils are cared for exceptionally well, their varied learning needs are met and they develop self-esteem, respect and a sense of responsibility. There are extremely successful strategies to help those pupils who may be falling behind in their learning. Well-established and highly effective practices involve parents and carers when their children enter school, move from class to class and transfer to secondary school.

How effective are leadership and management?

The highly experienced and well-respected headteacher has rigorously and skilfully pursued and implemented strategies that have brought about an improvement in school effectiveness. Very ably supported by the deputy headteacher, she has established and developed an enthusiastic leadership team and effective systems for tracking progress and monitoring the effectiveness of teaching. They have introduced initiatives that have raised attainment and effected improvements in the Early Years Foundation Stage. All staff have clearly defined roles and responsibilities and are enthusiastic about their contribution to the development of key areas of the curriculum. They welcome these opportunities to contribute to decision making and the very detailed school improvement plan and to advance their own professional development. The governing body offers good support and challenge to the school and has developed effective procedures to monitor learning.

The school's arrangements for safeguarding pupils are outstanding, as all aspects meet government requirements and are rigorously monitored and reviewed to ensure pupils' safety. The school has exceptionally effective links with outside agencies to support the pupils' wide-ranging needs and to develop learning opportunities. For example, a Family Learning project with Sunderland Football Club enables parents and carers to help their children learn at home and encourages better attendance at school. There is a clear commitment to promoting equal opportunities and to ensuring that discrimination against any group is avoided at all times. Careful analysis of assessment information means that any variations in performance are identified and resolved quickly and parents and carers are kept well informed of pupils' progress. The school is proud of its inclusive nature and makes a good contribution to community cohesion. The sense of community in the school is extremely strong and there are excellent links with the local community. Pupils have a

Early Years Foundation Stage

Children's skills on entry to Reception are least well developed in communication, language and literacy, social development and numeracy. Effective teaching, which is skilfully directed to develop skills in counting, speaking and listening and linking sounds and letters, helps children to make good progress from their starting points. Children thrive on creative activities such as craft, painting, writing and imaginative play and develop as confident and caring individuals. They particularly enjoy construction, dancing and writing about dragons to celebrate Chinese New Year. The teachers offer children many challenging activities both indoors and outdoors, and there are increasing opportunities for children to choose and organise their own learning.

Staff ensure that requirements regarding children's safety are met and encourage children to assess risks themselves. A range of healthy snacks and drinking water, opportunities for exercise, and clear guidelines for hand-washing, all help children to develop a good understanding of how to stay healthy. Effective leadership ensures that teaching is good because it is securely based on the knowledge of how young children learn and develop. Observations and assessments are used effectively to support and extend children's learning and identify areas for improvement. There are highly effective partnerships with parents and carers that enable children to settle quickly into the Reception class. The learning journals, in particular, help parents and carers to understand how well their children are progressing.

Views of parents and carers

The proportion of parents and carers responding to the questionnaire was below average for a school of this type. The respondents support the school and its leaders extremely strongly with almost all being happy with their child's experience at school and all aspects of its work. The inspection findings reflect these very positive views.

Responses from parents and carers to Ofsted's questionnaire

Ofsted invited all the registered parents and carers of pupils registered at Hetton Primary School to complete a questionnaire about their views of the school.

In the questionnaire, parents and carers were asked to record how strongly they agreed with 13 statements about the school.

The inspector received 31 completed questionnaires by the end of the on-site inspection. In total, there are 109 pupils registered at the school.

Overall, I am happy with my child's experience at this school	29	94	2	6	0	0	0	0

The table above summarises the responses that parents and carers made to each statement. The percentages indicate the proportion of parents and carers giving that response out of the total number of completed questionnaires. Where one or more parents and carers chose not to answer a particular question, the percentages will not add up to 100%.

Glossary

What inspection judgements mean

Grade	Judgement	Description
Grade 1	Outstanding	These features are highly effective. An outstanding school provides exceptionally well for all its pupils' needs.
Grade 2	Good	These are very positive features of a school. A school that is good is serving its pupils well.
Grade 3	Satisfactory	These features are of reasonable quality. A satisfactory school is providing adequately for its pupils.
Grade 4	Inadequate	These features are not of an acceptable standard. An inadequate school needs to make significant improvement in order to meet the needs of its pupils. Ofsted inspectors will make further visits until it improves.

Overall effectiveness of schools

Type of school	Overall effectiveness judgement (percentage of schools)
	Outstanding	Good	Satisfactory	Inadequate
Nursery schools	59	35	3	3
Primary schools	9	44	39	7
Secondary schools	13	36	41	11
Sixth forms	15	39	43	3
Special schools	35	43	17	5
Pupil referral units	21	42	29	9
All schools	13	43	37	8

New school inspection arrangements were introduced on 1 September 2009. This means that inspectors now make some additional judgements that were not made previously.

The data in the table above are for the period 1 September 2009 to 31 August 2010 and are consistent with the latest published official statistics about maintained school inspection outcomes (see www.ofsted.gov.uk).

The sample of schools inspected during 2009/10 was not representative of all schools nationally, as weaker schools are inspected more frequently than good or outstanding schools.

Percentages are rounded and do not always add exactly to 100.

Sixth form figures reflect the judgements made for the overall effectiveness of the sixth form in secondary schools, special schools and pupil referral units.

Common terminology used by inspectors

Achievement:	the progress and success of a pupil in their learning, development or training.
Attainment:	the standard of the pupils' work shown by test and examination results and in lessons.
Capacity to improve:	the proven ability of the school to continue improving. Inspectors base this judgement on what the school has accomplished so far and on the quality of its systems to maintain improvement.
Leadership and management:	the contribution of all the staff with responsibilities, not just the headteacher, to identifying priorities, directing and motivating staff and running the school.
Learning:	how well pupils acquire knowledge, develop their understanding, learn and practise skills and are developing their competence as learners.
Overall effectiveness:	inspectors form a judgement on a school's overall effectiveness based on the findings from their inspection of the school. The following judgements, in particular, influence what the overall effectiveness judgement will be. <ul style="list-style-type: none">■ The school's capacity for sustained improvement.■ Outcomes for individuals and groups of pupils.■ The quality of teaching.■ The extent to which the curriculum meets pupils' needs, including, where relevant, through partnerships.■ The effectiveness of care, guidance and support.
Progress:	the rate at which pupils are learning in lessons and over longer periods of time. It is often measured by comparing the pupils' attainment at the end of a key stage with their attainment when they started.

This letter is provided for the school, parents and carers to share with their children. It describes Ofsted's main findings from the inspection of their school.

Dear Pupils

Inspection of Hetton Primary School, Houghton le Spring, DH5 9ND

Thank you so much for making us so welcome when we inspected your school.

You go to a good school. We were extremely impressed by how hard you work in lessons and by your friendliness. You told us that you look forward to coming to school because you like your teachers and appreciate the activities the school provides for you, such as visits and clubs. You behave exceptionally well, show great respect for one another and look after one another admirably. You are very polite and helpful and we enjoyed talking to you about your school. We were particularly impressed by how safe you feel, how much you know about leading a healthy life and the way you are involved in helping to raise money to improve the school and for charities. Your parents and carers like the school very much. Your teachers try hard to make your lessons fun and all staff care for you exceptionally well. Your teachers also know what to do to make the school even better. They have agreed with me that they should do the following things to help your school to improve even more:

- help you to reach even higher standards at the end of Year 6, by making sure that all your lessons are as good as the very best lessons you have
- making sure that marking tells you clearly how to improve your work
- working with your parents and carers to make sure that more of you attend school more regularly.

You can help by continuing to do your best and attending regularly. We wish you every success in the future.

Yours sincerely

Mr Gordon Potter

Lead inspector
