The quality and standards of the early years provision

The provision does not meet requirements

- The childminder has not renewed her first-aid certificate in a timely manner. She is due to attend a course in the near future. However, this oversight is a breach of the Early Years Register and Childcare Register requirements as the childminder cannot assure children's safety and well-being.
- The childminder does not have a secure knowledge of the assessment arrangements for the Early Years Foundation Stage. She does not have a good understanding of how she would track children's progress. She does not know how to complete the required progress check for children between the ages of two and three years and provide a summary for parents.
- The childminder has many years of experience in working with children. She has a suitable understanding of child development and understands how to provide various activities, outings and experiences for them, to promote their learning through fun play activities.
- The childminder demonstrates a good understanding of the importance of working in partnership with parents to identify and meet children's individual needs.
- The childminder understands how to promote children's well-being. She shows a good awareness of providing children with plenty of fresh air and exercise and a healthy diet to promote their good health.
- The childminder has a sound knowledge of safeguarding children. Her child protection information and complaints procedures are suitable and she fully understands her responsibilities of how to keep children safe.

Information about this inspection

Inspections of registered early years provision are:

- scheduled at least once in every inspection cycle – the current cycle ends on 31 July 2016
- scheduled more frequently where Ofsted identifies a need to do so, for example where provision was previously judged inadequate
- brought forward in the inspection cycle where Ofsted has received information that suggests the provision may not be meeting the legal requirements of the Early Years Foundation Stage or where assessment of the provision identifies a need for early inspection
- prioritised where we have received information that the provision is not meeting the requirements of the Early Years Foundation Stage and which suggests children may not be safe
- scheduled at the completion of an investigation into failure to comply with the requirements of the Early Years Foundation Stage.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.

The provision is also registered on the voluntary and compulsory parts of the Childcare Register. This report includes a judgment about compliance with the requirements of that register.

Inspection activities

- The inspector looked at the childminder's training certificates, policies and documents that will be used when caring for children.
- The inspector checked evidence of suitability of the childminder and household members.
The inspector discussed with the childminder how they intend to deliver the educational programmes for children and undertake observation, assessment and planning.
- The inspector discussed with the childminder their plans for self-evaluation and improvement.
- The inspector had a tour of the premises and viewed toys, resources and equipment that are to be used for childminding.

Information about the setting

The childminder was registered in 1996 on the Early Years Register and the compulsory and voluntary parts of the Childcare Register. She lives with her husband in a house in Mossley, Lancashire. The whole of the ground floor, which includes a bathroom and the rear garden, which is accessible by a few steps, are used for childminding. At the time of the inspection, there were no early years children on roll. There is currently one older child on roll who attends before and after school, and in school holidays on various days. The childminding provision operates all year round, from 7.30am to 6pm, Monday to Friday, except bank holidays and family holidays.

What the setting needs to do to improve further

To meet the requirements of the Early Years Foundation Stage the provider must:

- develop knowledge and understanding of the assessment arrangements for the Early Years Foundation Stage, specifically regarding how to complete the required progress check for children between the ages of two and three years, and provide a summary for parents
- attend and complete a paediatric first-aid training course that is relevant to workers caring for children.

Type of provision

For the purposes of this inspection the following definitions apply:

Full-time provision is that which operates for more than three hours. These are usually known as nurseries, nursery schools and pre-schools and must deliver the Early Years Foundation Stage. They are registered on the Early Years Register and pay the higher fee for registration.

Sessional provision operates for more than two hours but does not exceed three hours in any one day. These are usually known as pre-schools, kindergartens or nursery schools and must deliver the Early Years Foundation Stage. They are registered on the Early Years Register and pay the lower fee for registration.

Childminders care for one or more children where individual children attend for a period of more than two hours in any one day. They operate from domestic premises, which are usually the childminder's own home. They are registered on the Early Years Register and must deliver the Early Years Foundation Stage.

Out of school provision may be sessional or full-time provision and is delivered before or after school and/or in the summer holidays. They are registered on the Early Years Register and must deliver the Early Years Foundation Stage. Where children receive their Early Years Foundation Stage in school these providers do not have to deliver the learning and development requirements in full but should complement the experiences children receive in school.
